

Mansley apartments launch ‘Concierge on the Go’ Smartphone

Guests of boutique accommodation provider Mansley Serviced Apartments can now enjoy unlimited free phone calls around the world as well as a guide to local attractions while carrying around their own ‘digital concierge’.

The luxury self-catering operator has installed handy smartphones in its apartments in London, Cheltenham, Edinburgh and Inverness.

The smartphone also provides free 4G Internet access and details of facilities within the suites, and is pre-loaded with common browsers and social media apps. It includes a city map, details of local events, and allows guests to book tickets for restaurants, shows and tourist attractions, providing an ‘on the move’ concierge service.

The device can be taken out of the apartment with all data erased two hours after check-out. There is no need for the guest to use any other ‘phone during their stay. Countries which can be called free vary with the property and guests’ nationalities but usually include Europe, North America, Australia and China.

“The introduction of handy is in line with Mansley’s policy of continuous innovation and offering our clients the best possible facilities and services to make the most of their time with us” said Colin Stone, Commercial Director. “It allows them to travel like a local, no matter where in the world they’re from.”

Terence Kwok, Founder and CEO of Tink Labs which provides the device, added: “In today’s digital age connectivity is more important than ever for an enriched travel experience. Connection through handy helps Serviced Apartments by Mansley travellers enjoy London, Cheltenham, Edinburgh and Inverness as premier travel destinations. It reveals local gems on the go and allows them to share experiences while freeing their minds from the hassle of finding the information they need.”
